

Candidate Jake Talks To County Democrats

New Paltz Man Asks Democratic Convention To Call Him Jake and If They Can't Remember That Call Him "Neighborhood Farm Man"—Convention Names Ticket and Adopts Resolutions.

Jacob Schryver of New Paltz, whose name was recommended for nomination on the Democratic ticket this fall for member of assembly at the unofficial Democratic county convention held Tuesday at the Auditorium Theatre on Pine Grove avenue, added the only color note to an otherwise dull and uneventful convention in which a machine picked state was jammed through on well greased wheels that did not even squeak.

Mr. Schryver made his appearance in the Democratic limelight when his name was presented to the convention by Peter Harp of New Paltz in a few well chosen words as the party's candidate this fall for member of assembly. Chairman William R. Kraft appointed a committee to escort Candidate Schryver to the platform but before the committee could arise from their seats the candidate was standing down in front and a second later was on the platform.

"I am a very sick man," said Mr. Schryver, "in fact I am so sick I ought to be home instead of here. I was taken sick on the way to Kingston. I am known from one end of the county to the other, but if you can't remember my name just call me Jake; if you forget Jake why call me the Neighborhood Farm Man."

"This nomination came to me unthought. The first thing I knew of it was Monday afternoon when I was asked to take the nomination. I had no chance to decide whether to say yes or no. They brought me up to Kingston and here I am."

"Mr. Harp in his nice little speech told you I was a busy man. He was right. I am, so I want to ask you here to all help me win this race. Most of my time is taken up daily on my farm and also the nights for I got a lot of cucumber pickles to do up—laughter from the delegates and several voices saying "That's all right Jake, we'll help you!"

"I want to tell you that if I am elected I am going to help you. I am for the working man. I don't care if he is a Democrat or a Republican; if he is a citizen of this country of ours I am going to help him."

"I told Judge Schrick this morning that if I was not the most capable man in the county for the assembly at least I could talk."

Grogan Names Livingston.

The convention got down to business shortly before 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and from then on events moved smoothly. At the opening of the session Chairman Kraft recognized Attorney William H. Grogan of this city who presented the name of Robert R. Livingston for congress. He said that Mr. Livingston had been a successful lawyer in New York city and that three days after he had entered the World War he had enlisted and had later gone overseas. On his return he had resumed practice in New York but owing to ill health had returned to Columbia county where he had purchased a fruit farm. Mr. Grogan said Mr. Livingston was a successful lawyer, soldier, farmer and a substantial business man and was president of the National Bank at Granstown.

Former Mayor John E. Kraft of this city in seconding the nomination called attention to the fact that he represented the old Democracy in Ulster county and that he had first entered politics over half a century ago. He also paid a tribute to Governor Smith.

Unable to Attend.

Chairman Kraft read a telegram from Mr. Livingston stating that owing to ill health he was unable to be present at the convention.

Lackey Named by Coughlin.

The name of J. Frank Lackey of Tannersville for state senator, was placed before the convention by Attorney Thomas F. Coughlin of this city. Mr. Coughlin said that Mr. Lackey has been a public servant for many years and was now serving his second term as supervisor of the town of Hunter. He had also served as postmaster of the village of Tannersville and is president of the Chamber of Commerce of that village.

Mr. Lackey was presented to the convention and said that the nomination had come to him unthought. "Forget petty jealousies and form a united front to the foe. Wipe the slate clean" was his advice to the convention.

DeWitt Named by Rice.

Sheriff Arthur Rice placed the name of Matthew T. E. DeWitt of Hurley before the convention for the office of county treasurer, and said that Mr. DeWitt was a man who was widely known and respected and who had served four terms as a member of the board of supervisors. He was

Typhoid Cases, Milk Tests and Ice Cream Soda

Were Some of Subjects Discussed by Health Board—To Enlarge Laboratory Assistant—Health Ordinance Requiring Use of Paper Cups for Serving Ice Cream, to be Enforced.

Typhoid fever, the use of paper cups for serving ice cream, milk tests required under the new state law and the decision to employ an additional assistant at the city laboratory were some of the matters taken up at the regular monthly meeting of the board of health held Tuesday evening.

Dr. Holcomb called the attention of the board to two cases of typhoid fever in the Brummer family who reside in the old Mansion House building on lower Broadway. He said the cases were the most virulent he had ever seen. One of the children was two and one-half years old and the other four years old. The youngest child is now ill with typhoid. The older child had been ill and after being at the City of Kingston Hospital for two weeks had been taken home. He said that Miss Somerville, who had had probably more experience with typhoid cases than any other nurse in the city, was in charge of the sick child and that every precaution was being taken to prevent the spread of the disease.

The original source of the infection is unknown. It was at first thought to be from the milk supplied the family but they used only pasteurized milk.

To Enforce Sanitary Code.

Dr. E. H. Loughran, health officer, called attention to the fact that inspections had been made of the stores in town where ice cream and ice cream soda were sold and many were found to be unsanitary. After considerable discussion the health officer was directed to enforce the provisions in the city sanitary code that requires the use of paper cups in serving ice cream and also that the ice cream dipper used in transferring the ice cream from the can to the soda water glass be washed in boiling water at least several times a day.

To Employ Laboratory Assistant.

The board after some discussion decided to employ an extra assistant at the city laboratory at a salary of $1,500 a year. Owing to the new state milk code considerable more work was done at the laboratory.

Under the state milk code the health officers of the county towns cannot issue a permit to sell milk until the milk to be sold had a laboratory test. The state code required these tests to be made every three months.

It was brought out that the towns must bear the expense of these milk tests and the board decided to work out later a schedule of prices to be charged in making the tests.

The reports of the officers, which will be found elsewhere, were adopted. Bills were read and audited and the board then adjourned.

Smith Advisors Imprisoned When Elevator Falls

John J. Raskob and Members of Advisory Cabinet Have Narrow Escape in Elevator Mishap at the Savoy Plaza Hotel.

New York, Aug. 15 (AP).—John J. Raskob, Democratic national chairman, and half a dozen others of Governor Smith's campaign advisory cabinet, had a narrow escape last night when an elevator in which they were riding fell more than two floors and imprisoned its occupants twenty stories above the ground for almost an hour.

Those riding with Raskob included Advisory Committee Chairman Senator Peter Goelet Gerry of Rhode Island and Mrs. Gerry; Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana; Colonel Herbert H. Lehman, campaign finance director; Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi; Congressman Parker Corning of New York, and Dr. and Mrs. Henry Moskowitz.

The party was descending in an elevator at the Savoy Plaza Hotel. The car failed to stop at the twenty-third floor and fell until it was halted by mechanical safeguards between the 21st and 22nd floors. Raskob and Senator Gerry were imprisoned in the car for half an hour and the other occupants were not released for almost an hour.

Senator Gerry had invited the Smith advisors to his apartment on the 23rd floor of the hotel for dinner and a conference. After a preliminary conference they took the elevator to the 25th floor for dinner. It was on their return from dinner that the elevator failed to stop at Senator Gerry's floor.

The doors of the hotel elevators are so arranged that they will not open unless the floors of the cars are level with the building floor. Members of the party sought to attract attention to their plight by pounding on the elevator door.

It was half an hour before hotel employees were able to open the shaft door on the 22nd floor, affording about a two foot opening into the car. Through this opening Raskob and Senator Gerry were able to clamber but the other members of the party were imprisoned an additional half hour until hotel engineers could bring the car to the 22nd floor.

When word of the happening leaked out through Democratic headquarters this morning the hotel management made light of the occurrence.

"The incident was caused by a fuse blowing out," one of the managers said, "and this was quickly repaired as soon as it came to the attention of the engineering department."

The management said the time the car was stalled was not nearly an hour, as was said at Democratic headquarters, but only 12 minutes, just the time it took to replace the fuse.

The occupants of the elevator could not be reached this morning. None of them had appeared at campaign headquarters up to noon.

White Denies He Has Retracted

New York, Aug. 15 (AP).—William Allen White, Emporia, Kan., editor, in a cable to Henry J. Allen of Kansas, publicity director for the Republican national committee, denies he has retracted any of his charges against Governor Smith.

The cablegram, as made public at Republican campaign headquarters here, read:

"In my case against Governor Smith I have made no retraction. On the prostitution issue I proved my case, got a conviction and suspended the sentence. I only did this because I felt that a debate on the subject of morality was not worthy of a Presidential campaign. But if Governor Smith tries to wigwag me by way out of his record I shall come back at him with the proven evidence."

"The complete photostatic transcript of the Smith record is in New York and I will order it produced if the Democratic candidate acts up."

In a statement on July 31 Mr. White charged Governor Smith with voting to protect the saloon, gambling and prostitution while a member of the New York Assembly. After a talk with Walter Lippman, of the New York World, Mr. White retracted his statements as to gambling and prostitution saying that the governor in casting his vote against the reform bills might "honestly have felt that the bills were unconstitutional, or were not enforceable, or infringed upon personal liberty or encouraged police blackmail."

Governor Smith never made a formal answer to Mr. White's charges.

TEN CHURCH BUILDINGS ARE ORDERED CLOSED

Guantanamo, Mexico, Aug. 15 (AP).—Ten church buildings which had been allowed to remain open have been ordered closed. The authorities charged that they found that aims collected within the buildings were being used to provide insurgents operating in the mountains with arms and ammunition. The alleged diversion of funds was disclosed by a file recently seized during a combat. An investigation is being made to discover the culprits, who will be exemplarily punished.

Dollar Day Continues Tonight; Record Crowd Purchase Bargains.

Ideal weather ushered in Kingston's Uptown Merchants' Annual August Dollar Day sale today and at noon the indications were that the sale was to be the biggest which has ever been held in Kingston. Shoppers began to arrive in town early, and long before the stores were open there was a throng of eager shoppers who centered their attention on some particular place where they waited for the store to open and procure some particular advertised bargain.

However, after the stores were open and the particular bargain had been procured the shrewd shoppers made the round of the other stores and benefited by the other offerings of Kingston's progressive merchants.

Police officers on duty endorsed the general opinion that today's Dollar Day had brought out the biggest crowd which has ever participated in a Dollar Day sale in Kingston.

The merchants are ready for the rush of business, having anticipated that their special offerings would be appreciated by the public and a rush ensue. Additional clerks were on hand, extra cashiers were ready to hasten each transaction and the stock clerks were ready with stock to replenish the fast diminishing counter stocks.

One of the gratifying things of the sale was the number of out of town people who came to shop. People from all over the county and distant points were observed among the shoppers. These shoppers have come to realize that Kingston is a good place to shop and that when Kingston merchants advertise bargains they are genuine bargains worthy of patronage.

The sale was continued during the afternoon with good crowds in attendance and stores will remain open this evening so that those who cannot attend the sale during the day may take advantage of the bargains. Excelsior Hose Company Band will enliven the evening with music which will be given during a parade about the streets.

Several of the merchants in reply to inquiry were of the opinion that the sale would be the biggest and greatest that has ever been seen in Kingston since the innovation of the Dollar Day Sale several years ago.

Straton Says He Will Hire Hall

And Repeat His Charges If Governor Smith Refuses to Meet Him in Debate Anywhere Except in His Church.

Greenwood Lake, N. Y., Aug. 15 (AP).—The Rev. John Roach Straton, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, New York city, threatens that if Governor Smith refuses to meet him in debate anywhere except in his church he will hire the largest hall he can find and repeat the sermon which brought on their controversy.

The governor wrote to Dr. Straton asking for a "Yes" or "No" answer to his request for a hearing in Calvary Church where the minister first made the charge that the governor was "the deadliest foe in America today to the forces of moral progress and true political wisdom."

Dr. Straton, who had not yet received the letter, said that for obvious reasons which he had previously advanced he could not meet the governor in Calvary Church. These reasons cited by Dr. Straton were that a church was no place for the holding of a political debate and that he believed the edifice would not hold all who would wish to attend.

"But if the governor does refuse on this ground," Dr. Straton continued, "then I will hire the largest hall I can secure and notify the governor that I am going to repeat in that hall the exact sermon to which he objected."

He said he was assuming that Governor Smith must be present and I will allow him any time he wants to make rejoinders. If he does not attend that meeting I have something more to say about him, whether he is governor of the state, candidate for president, or whatever he is. We'll show people who is going to run to cover."

There seemed little chance that Governor Smith would accept Dr. Straton's latest offer. In his letter to the Baptist minister yesterday the governor wrote:

"The answer to my request to appear in your church before your parishioners under the conditions mentioned is 'Yes' or 'No.' Unless and until I hear from you in the affirmative, the matter is closed."

Women Injured In Auto Crash

About 7 o'clock Tuesday evening a Ford sedan driven by Asa Countryman of 23 Hurley avenue and a Hudson car driven by Arthur Alcon, a local taxi driver, came together at Hasbrouck avenue and Garden street with a crash that was heard for some distance. Mrs. Sarah Krom of Saratoga Springs, who was riding in the Ford car, was badly cut about the face with glass and sustained a possible fracture of the skull. She was rushed to the City of Kingston Hospital and an X-ray will be taken today to ascertain the extent of her injuries. She was resting as comfortably as could be expected today. It was stated at the hospital. The Ford car was badly wrecked, but there was not much damage to the Hudson car. Both Countryman and Alcon escaped uninjured.

300 LIVES LOST IN SINKING OF STEAMER

Shanghai, Aug. 15 (AP).—British naval circles announced today that five hundred lives had been lost in the sinking of the Chinese steamer Hsinshantung in the Yangtze river. Those drowned are believed to include a British missionary.

The steamer was bound for Ichang from Chungking. It foundered in dangerous rapids with all on board.

Floods in Florida, Gales in Georgia

Lake Okechobee Region Gradually Becoming Inundated—Gale Pursues Damaging Course Through Georgia.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 15 (AP).—Florida turned today from the danger of hurricanes to that of serious floods as the Lake Okechobee region gradually became inundated, forming a shallow inland sea of wide proportions.

The latest of a series of gales which have beaten against the coast line of the peninsula for seven days was pursuing a damaging course through Georgia toward the Atlantic in the path blazed by the first such disturbance, which exacted a heavy damage toll in Florida a week ago and ended Sunday off the middle Atlantic coast.

Meanwhile another moderate disturbance blowing northwest off the coast of Cuba, was the occasion of caution notices to shipping in that area, although no storm warning was issued for Florida.

South central Florida's shallow inland sea was draining slowly into Lake Okechobee from the north and west through three channels—Taylor's creek, Kissimmee river, and Fish Eating creek. These three streams had spread until the flooded network of their tributaries had joined each other, with Kissimmee, the central and largest drainage artery, overflowing its banks 30 miles north of its mouth.

In all the affected area, only Okechobee City on Taylor's creek, a few miles east of the mouth of the Kissimmee, was entirely safe. There the Red Cross, with a national disaster worker cooperating, was attempting to reach isolated refugees by boat with supplies and food. All of the 50 inhabitants of Cabbage Bluff, a trapper village, were brought here when the town was washed away.

All territory between Okechobee City and Basseger, 20 miles to the north, was inundated today. Part of Labelle was under water, and Micoe Bluff, a community operated by a "101 Ranch" company, was flooded.

Lake Okechobee was slowly rising, threatening an area to the east as yet untouched. Whether that danger stage will be reached depends on rapidity of the approach of the next head of Kissimmee water, now 100 miles upstate, and the speed of drainage through the canals to the south.

Kissimmee meanwhile had cut a second channel into the lake which, wider than the parent stream, wandered through a district of fertile farm lands.

Damage in this territory was estimated at between $200,000 and $400,000 with railroads, roads, crops, industries and home owners suffering in the order named.

One precarious highway passage was possible to Okechobee City and the Seaboard Air Line had crews busy in an effort to clear a single railway line from Jacksonville in order to send supplies to the stricken areas. The first train into the town since August 6 was expected to run some time today.

Coutants Hurt As Train Hit Truck Tuesday

William C. Coutant and Daughter Have Narrow Escape on Ten Broeck Avenue Crossing As Train Crashes Into Auto Truck.

William C. Coutant and his daughter, Grace, of 41 Hemlock avenue, had a narrow escape from instant death shortly after 6 o'clock Tuesday evening when the truck they were riding in was struck by a West Shore railroad train on the Ten Broeck avenue crossing. Both were hurled out of the truck, which was demolished. Miss Coutant was picked up unconscious by her father and was rushed to the City of Kingston Hospital where she received medical treatment and later was removed to her home.

According to Mr. Coutant, who is employed by the board of public works, he was driving one of the Ford trucks of the board, north on Ten Broeck avenue. His daughter was riding with him. He said that the train that struck the truck was evidently rolling into the West Shore station under its own momentum as he did not hear the locomotive and did not see the train until he was on the crossing.

As soon as he saw the train he tried to turn but it was too late and the next thing he knew was the crash and he found himself hurled out of the truck. When he picked himself up it was to find his daughter lying on the tracks, unconscious. The truck had been struck in the front on the side in which his daughter was sitting. The truck was hurled to one side and badly wrecked.

This morning Miss Coutant was resting as comfortably as could be expected at her home. She had received an injured hip and ankle and was bruised from her head to her feet. Mr. Coutant was also bruised and today he walked with a limp. He was able, however, to resume his duties.

The truck was towed away from the railroad crossing and stored in the rear of the Municipal Building on East O'Reilly street.

Cooper Regains Lead Over Begg

Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 15 (AP).—Regaining the advantage he held earlier in the night with the reporting of a block of 100 precincts from Hamilton county, Myers V. Cooper early today held a lead of almost 6,000 votes over James T. Bebb for the Republican nomination for governor.

The Hamilton precincts afforded the latest development in the saw race that developed early in the evening between the congressman from the Thirteenth district and his opponent.

The Hamilton precincts afforded the latest development in the saw race that developed early in the evening between the congressman from the Thirteenth district and his opponent.

Among the several interestingly doubtful races was that between Senator Cyrus Locher, Cleveland, and Graham P. Hunt, of Cincinnati, for the position on the Democratic ticket in opposition to Theodore E. Burton. Interest in the contest was enhanced by the direct cleavage between the two on the question of dry law modification.

Locher, avowed dry, had Anti-Saloon League support. Hunt, open advocate of modification of the Volstead law, of course was opposed by the organization. With the vote of 5,425 precincts counted, Hunt had a lead of slightly more than 4,000 over Locher.

The vote was: Hunt, 51,659; Locher, 47,532.

SAUGERTIES MAN SAID HE LOST $765 IN CITY

James Morgan, who said he resides in Saugerties, reported to the police Tuesday afternoon that sometime that day he had lost his pocketbook containing $765 somewhere in the city, and asked the assistance of the police in finding it.

Thrills and spills marked the opening day of the harness races at the Kingston Driving Park on Manor avenue Tuesday afternoon. On a track which was in excellent shape, nine horses started in both the 2:28 and 2:22 classes, and in both events some remarkable time was made. In the 2:28 trot the first heat was run in 2:16 while in the first heat of the 2:22 pace the time was 2:11½. In both races there was some remarkable driving and the second heat of the 2:28 was as pretty a race as was ever run in Kingston. The special race for a purse of $200 furnished some real entertainment and there was considerable interest in the event as three local horses started.

It was the special race which furnished one of the thrills and also one of the spills. U. Mald, driven by Brink and owned by Mrs. B. W. Mahen, after finishing the first two heats in first position, met with an unavoidable accident just after the start in the last heat. The driver was thrown and unable to finish the race although he escaped injury.

The judges gave him fourth position on account of an unavoidable accident. Harry Keyser's Circita, driven by Putvin which had taken second position in the first two heats, came in first after running the entire mile without a tire on the sulky. The nerve of the driver in completing the race after the accident in which he lost a tire and was thrown from the sulky caused comment by everyone and brought forth the comment of the starter, Lloyd M. Hallenbeck.

Troopers Thrill Crowd

Following the races the members of "G" Troop, New York State Troopers, put on their rough riding stunts which have made the troop champions of the state. Under the direction of Captain Fox these grey clad men supplied some of the thrills of the afternoon. The squad of Troopers riding in single file first gave a demonstration of fancy and trick riding which caused many of the timid to gasp for breath. Then came the individual stunts of the men. Each man has some particular difficult feat which he has mastered and can perform with almost super-human endeavor. Riding a galloping horse while standing in the saddle, circling the horse by flying loops, circling the horse's neck while traveling a racing speed or some other difficult stunt apparently is the delight of the boys and everyone of the stunts were performed with a sureness and precision which shows not only the greatest in horsemanship but skill and nerve.

As a final act the famous fire drill concluded the act. There the men gallop through flaming hoops. Tuesday this act was cut short when one of the horses became tangled up in the hoop and kicked it over breaking the equipment.

As the Troopers charged down the field in their opening number they were given a hand by the enthusiastic crowd, many of whom had never before seen the acts of daring.

Watson Freer Enters Race.

June Reede and her trick horse "California Gold" entertained with an act which caused much comment. Following her act there was a running race in which Miss Reede and a youth dressed in a clown suit participated. The thrill of the race, however, was when on the home stretch Watson Freer who had not been formally entered in the running race took a hand in the race and came in neck and neck under the wire with Miss Reede just losing him out. The third entry in the race was impromptu and added life to the contest.

Several people were of the opinion that the track on Tuesday was heavy. This was not so and the time made in the races showed that the track was in excellent shape.

Expect Larger Crowds

The crowd Tuesday was not large but with faster races scheduled for today and Thursday it is expected the crowds will increase. Friday, the day of the automobile races, room in the grand stand will be at a premium and those desiring a seat should come early.

150 New Automobiles Displayed

Before and after the races many people took advantage of the opportunity to visit the two big tents which house the automobile show. There some 150 new model cars are gathered for inspection. There is ample opportunity to examine the cars and competent salesmen in attendance to explain any detail desired.

For those who drive to the races there is ample room to park all cars. The parking is in charge of State Troopers and cars are parked with

Al Smith is Challenged to Joint Debate by Will Rogers

New York, August 15.—Will Rogers today issued another deft to his political opponents in his campaign for president as the candidate of the Anti-Bunk party. Following his challenge to joint debate, sent last week to Herbert Hoover, Rogers has thrown down the gauntlet to Al Smith. In a letter received at Smith headquarters here today, Rogers also challenges the Democratic nominee. His letter follows:

Dear Friend Al:
Now this is the open season for Debates, and I believe you and I could put on about as good a one as one of these others. So I hereby challenge you the way I challenged the other fellow last week.

Now the trouble with most Debates, they are confined to a subject. Now we won't let that worry us, we'll just rent Madison Square Garden. All we do is sell tickets, and let the money go to poor Democratic widows who have given their husbands' lives to trying to get elected to some office in the Democratic party. Those are the most deserving women I know of.

And there's Farm relief. You know how a Farmer votes. When he gets to the polls he reaches in his pocket and sees how much he's got. If it's only a few cents why he says "Throw the rascals out," and he votes Democratic. But if he's got as much as a dollar he guesses that the rascals is on his side after all, so maybe he'd better leave 'em in.

I wrote Hoover and challenged him. But he wanted to make it over the radio. Hoover wants to get on the radio where they can't see him. But with you it's different. You want the gang to see you. You want to make your appeal to the common people. Well you can't make any commoner appeal than I can.

So come on, be a good fellow Al, and name the time, place and subject (if any). You and I can pack 'em in.

So long Al, and good luck to you till we meet in debate.

Yours,
Will.

Candidate of the Anti-Bunk Party, without campaign buttons or cigars.

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz, Aug. 15.—Mr. and Mrs. Irving Kortright have been enjoying a two weeks' vacation. A large number of men from all over Ulster county have already made their plans to be in line behind Ulster's banner on September 7.

A number of the members of the local Post, not belonging to the drum corps, are planning to attend the national convention of the American Legion in San Antonio. All those interested in this trip are asked to attend the meeting Friday night, at which time rates, schedules and full information will be given.

Dancing, with music by the Post orchestra will follow the meeting.

John Lee, employed as a laborer on the railroad at Barrytown, arrested Tuesday evening for public intoxication, was sentenced to ten days in jail. He had appeared in court that morning on the same charge and had been fined $5 and warned to return to Barrytown, but had neglected to heed the warning.

Mrs. Mary Hausman of 21 East Pierpont street was arrested on a warrant sworn out by Peter Cooney, who resides in the same house, charging her with disorderly conduct in molesting his family. Mrs. Hausman was discharged on her promise to leave the Cooney family alone in the future.

Mary Heaney, of 140 Spring street, arrested on a warrant obtained by Minnie Ryan, charging disorderly conduct, had her case set down for a hearing on August 21.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS CASES IN POUGHKEEPSIE.

Two new cases of infantile paralysis were reported in Poughkeepsie on Monday. In the case of four-year-old Arline Cohen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Cohen, 573 Main street, the disease proved fatal for the child died Monday afternoon shortly after showing signs of the treacherous malady.

The other victim of infantile paralysis is Vincent Germano, aged 6 years, of 8 Cataract Place. There are eight children in the family, which is under quarantine. Whether the Germano boy contracted the germ from the Wheaton Park swimming pool could not be determined. The residence is a short distance from the park.

The two cases mentioned make three which have been discovered in Poughkeepsie this summer. Walter Tillou, of 178 Main street, was the first victim. He is reported to be improving.

INJURIES FATAL TO NEGRO CHIEF OF TRAIN.

Amsterdam, N. Y., Aug. 15 (P).—One of the seven persons injured seriously in the wreck of a fast train near Fonda on August 10, died in a hospital here today. He was William Houston of Buffalo, negro chief of the train. Houston was scalded by escaping steam when his dining car was derailed.

Professor Samuel Cahan, Syracuse University instructor, and his wife today remained at the institution to which they were brought from the wreck. Two other persons, employees of the railroad, also were being held at a hospital for treatment. Physicians said the condition of the four was favorable.

Officials of the New York Central reported that the wreck apparently was caused by rails spreading on a curve as a result of exceptionally hot weather.

REPUBLIC WILL ABSORB STEEL AND TUBES, INC.

Cleveland, Aug. 15 (P).—The Republic Iron and Steel Company of Youngstown has announced plans to absorb Steel and Tubes, Inc., of Cleveland, forming a company with assets exceeding $157,000,000.

R. T. McCleary, president of Republic, and Myron A. Wick, head of Steel and Tubes, said arrangements had been completed for acquisition of a majority of the stock of the Cleveland firm by the Republic, subject to ratification by stockholders of Steel and Tubes.

The Steel and Tubes stock will be acquired at the equivalent of $170 a share, the announcement said. Value of outstanding Steel and Tubes stock is placed around $17,000,000.

McCleary said consolidation of the two companies will place the Republic in a position to furnish Steel and Tubes with strip steel, of which it is now using 5,000 tons a month. Republic, which recently acquired the Trumbull Steel Company, operates rolling mills and factories in Youngstown, Warren, and Niles, Ohio, Moline, Ill., Muncie, Ind., and blast furnaces at Birmingham, Ala., besides owning iron, coal and limestone properties in Pennsylvania, Alabama, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Philadelphia, Aug. 15 (P).—Charges of inciting to riot were lodged against Benjamin Weiss, 14-year-old schoolboy, when a street fight occurred between members of the "Workers Communist Party" he addressed at an open-air meeting and several hundred bystanders.

Police were sent to the scene when several persons complained that sedition remarks were being made by the speakers. Upon their arrival they heard one of the speakers being heckled by a crowd of unsympathetic hearers which fringed the meeting.

At this point Weiss jumped to the platform and made an impassioned speech that started a fight. The meeting was dispersed and Weiss taken to police headquarters. Thomas Plank, 20, was arrested as chairman of the meeting. Four speakers escaped.

EXPLOSION WRECKS INDIANA SANITARY POTTERY PLANT.

Hammond, Ind., Aug. 15 (P).—Police today sought to find in smoldering ruins of the Indiana Sanitary Pottery Company some evidence to solve the mysterious explosion which yesterday wrecked the plant.

Whether the blast which caused $250,000 damages and rocked nearby buildings, was accidental or the result of a plot, has not been determined. Labor troubles which closed the plant Saturday gave police reason to believe plotters may have been responsible.

It was believed that no one was killed by the explosion and fire which followed. Early reports said several had been killed.

NEGRO BOOTBLACK IDENTIFIED AS EVANSTON "PEEPING TOM."

Chicago, Aug. 15 (P).—David Shanks, negro bootblack held for Miss Jennie Constance's slaying, has been identified as the "Peeping Tom" who proved so annoying in Evanston last February. Shanks recently finished a six months sentence following charges growing out of one of his "peeping" episodes.

Prosecuting attorneys expected to receive Shanks' plea in the Constance case today, as well as to set the date for his trial. SPREADS PRINCETON BANNER THEN TAKES HIS LIFE

New York, Aug. 15 (P).—Spreading a large Princeton banner on the floor of his bath room, Samuel Clarke Backus Peck, 23, a graduate of the university in the class of 1927, fired a bullet into his right temple. He died later without regaining consciousness.

He was found in his three-room apartment in Greenwich Village shortly before midnight by his roommate, Samuel B. Payne. The latter told the police Peck, who was employed as a statistician by the Guaranty Company of New York, had been suffering from a nervous breakdown.

Several notes and letters were found by the police. One letter, unaddressed, read: "To Clara in death, good bye and good luck, you will do better without me."

The other notes were incoherent. One of them referred to the "ever wonderful Princeton" and said he could never forget "what Princeton had done" for him. Among those to whom notes were addressed were Miss Sarah V. Clarke, of Middleburgh, N. Y.; William L. Matthews, of Spokane, Wash., and Miss Etta T. Backus, 2311 Riverside avenue, Scotia, N. Y.

Amplifiers had been put in place to carry the President's voice to the farthest rim of the great crowd for which plans had been made.

The President planned only a short stay here, the arrangements allowing only a little more time than required for delivery of the address and the journey to and from the train.

BLOWS TO NORDIC PRIDE

Speaking before the Institute of Politics at Williamstown, Mass., a few hours before the news of the marathon run at Amsterdam arrived, Prof. McKenzie of the University of Washington declared: "The popular theory of Nordic supremacy has no real foundation. . . . It is very evident that Orientals, once they get the scientific spirit that dominates the west, will equal the white man in any kind of effort, whether cultural, commercial or scientific." This statement, which may indeed be slightly extravagant, must have disgusted the professional "Nordics" who heard it or read it, and no doubt their dissatisfaction was increased when the news came that an Algerian was first, a Chilean second and a Japanese fourth in the Olympic marathon, the winner being described "as an Algerian mechanic, a son of Blakra date-farmers, a former dispatch rider against Abd-el-Krim, now an automobile worker in Paris whose passion is 'le sport.'"

Here was a still heavier blow, following so many previous surprises and disappointments in this year's Olympic games. For it had been figured in advance that only a Finn or an American was likely to win the marathon race, only the "Nordics" or northern races being supposed to have even the physical stamina required, southern Europeans, South Americans or Orientals not even being thought of as possible winners. In view of this year's results, all will be inclined to agree with an American editor's comment that "these Olympic games are curing the inferiority complex hitherto afflicting some of the 'little peoples' of the world"—although it is likely that there has been less of such "inferiority complex" than we in our pride have supposed.

A SUMMER NUISANCE.

The citizen's radio in winter—except in crowded city apartment houses—is his own private affair, the inimitable jazz and the tireless announcer's voice being confined within his own walls. But in summer, with his own and his neighbors' windows open, his radio, if he and his family are insatiable "fans," is apt to become a public nuisance, even a pest. No wonder the Federal Radio Commission is deluged by "complaints of radio jazz which continues after midnight and radio setting-up exercises which begin at 6:45 a. m." And while one person writes to Washington, we may be sure that many complain to neighbors, apartment-house owners and city officers, the great majority, perhaps, merely suffering and chafing in silence.

A man's house or "castle" is still supposed to be protected by law from physical trespass and spying, but in summer at least it is now defenseless against a continuous noisy invasion which checks conversation, interrupts reading, prevents concentration on work and seriously limits the hours of sleep. The worst conditions are in crowded urban centers where people live behind thin partitions, where the radio is inescapable, a chain of hotels having actually put one in every room. The Federal Radio Commission announces that it has no power to stop early or late broadcasting, and, though possibly some limitation can be set by municipal ordinances, it looks as if regulation will have to be left largely to tenement owners and a community spirit of forbearance or merciful consideration. Our marvelous modern inventions are obviously attended by great costs in addition to the mere financial outlay.

Many signs indicate that old international barriers are being broken down rapidly in Europe since the war. Several railroads and many new bridges span the Rhine and Danube. A railroad at last has been built across the Pyrenees, which so long were preserved as a military barrier between France and Spain. The Alps are being bored again for another international tunnel. Talk continues in England and France of a railroad tube beneath the English Channel. Rail gauges on various lines have been brought to standard which, enabling the rolling stock of one country to continue into a neighboring country instead of stopping at the border. The dispute is natural by a great ignorance of boundaries likewise the radio. Intelligent men realize clearly that the age of isolation is past. Intelligence, with growth in speed, overcomes ancient ignorance and prejudices.

Economic stress makes the British people restless again. The Irish, with America partly closed to them, press into Scotland, and Scotland thereupon wants to restrict them on a quota basis. The British industrial population, lacking employment, seeks opportunity in the distant dominions, with the government's approval, but Canada and the other dominions object, saying that they will accept only those that meet their needs and do not throw their own people out of work. Thus the quota basis, at first objected to by other nations, may be adopted by them. All countries show a tendency now to limit the importation of people from other countries more severely than they limit the importation of goods. Even pioneer countries put up new barriers. Millions must find opportunity at home, or not at all.

The news comes from the border State of North Carolina that it is all stirred up because bootleggers are poisoning their moonshine to get revenge on sneak thieves who robbed their stills. Presumably the poisoning of industrial alcohol by the United States government is cited as a sustaining precedent.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

THE GALL BLADDER.

Perhaps you have been hearing about the method of treating gall stones, cancer, and other liver conditions, by means of a thin tube called the duodenal tube. It gets its name because it goes down the throat past the stomach, and into the first part of the small intestine, which is called the duodenum.

A solution of Epsom salts is poured down this little tube which is no larger than a slate pencil, and the patient lies on his right side with leg straight down and knee straight, the left leg and knee bent lying over the right, thus bringing the duodenum or first part of intestine lower than stomach.

As you know the duct from the liver and gall bladder opens into the duodenum.

After the salts have remained there for some time, the patient then lies with the head lower than the body, and the bile is thus drained out of gall bladder.

By continuous drainage almost a quart of bile can be removed from a badly congested gall bladder and liver, in twenty-four hours.

Not only is the liver drained of its bile in this manner but this drainage removes mucous, or any broken down infected matter, and prevents stasis or stoppage.

Now the big point is that this method not only cleanses the liver and the liver cells, thus preventing jaundice and that tired, sick, lazy feeling, but by keeping everything moving it prevents the formation of gall stones.

Now it is too much to expect that stones already formed, many of them larger than the diameter of the tube, are going to be removed by this method of drainage, or that a cancer already formed can be likewise cured.

However you can certainly see how all those symptoms such as nausea, headache, gas attacks, vomiting, pain in right chest, can be relieved and prevented by this common sense treatment. This has always meant heavy doses of calomel in the past.

However the formation of gall stones can be prevented, and all necessary for this drainage business likewise removed, by simply keeping the liver active.

This is done in two ways. First, by avoiding heavy meals, especially fats, and second by exercise. The exercise of bending the body from side to side with knees straight, fifteen to twenty-five times each side, twice daily, will be sufficient.

In fact, any bending exercise or work that makes your lungs work hard will send the lungs against the floor of the chest and thus "squeeze" the liver.

WHERE I BELONG

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

I WENT down South, I went up North, And East and West I wandered forth, But now I'm through, And here I come Right back to where I started from.

It seems a sort Of funny thing, But spring don't seem The same as spring In other lands— The trees bud out, But not the trees You dream about.

And so I'm back, And here I'll stay, And not a thousand Miles away, With all their flags And all their songs, A man belongs Where he belongs. (© 1928, Douglas Malloch.)

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. WALKER

BELIEVE IN YOURSELF

THE individual who lacks belief in himself, who approaches his daily duties timidly, fearing that he is destined to blunder and thus make a failure of his work, will find it difficult to gain and hold the confidence of others.

The man or woman whose heart is always troubled with doubt is deficient of the fundamental elements of success.

He or she is forever striving against a formidable handicap which in most cases is merely imaginary.

Some persons well equipped by education and experience for the work which they are doing are even so foolish as to give it up in moments of discouragement and start off in a new quest.

They are victims of a weakness which they should by every possible means strive to overcome.

And strange to say, this weakness prevails to a larger extent among men and women of real ability than it does among the ignorant, proving in a small measure that "ignorance is bliss."

The shy skater is apt to be afraid to try the thin ice, but the venturesome fellow doesn't care a whoop whether he breaks through or not.

In love as in war, it is generally the man who believes in himself that wins. And so it is in the pursuit of wealth and fame, often elusive to the timid, but easily captured by the stout-hearted who refuse to admit defeat.

But there is a vast difference between genuine confidence and the other kind which the egotist sees through distorted spectacles.

The former, the altogether right sort, is the steadfast, unshaken sort, which most of us need to spur us on to greater usefulness, to ourselves and to others.

One is a kind of lie which poisons everything it touches; the other is truth without virus, uplifting, hopeful, certain and as strong as the rock of ages, which we all may acquire if we go about its acquirement in the right spirit.

We almost break our necks to get a job, but when we sit down to it and face the serious responsibilities it brings with it, our courage cools out and we find ourselves face to face with fear.

The thing to do when this foolish fear manifests itself is to summon confidence, take up our work, believe in ourselves and go through it unshaken to the very end.

If we do this steadfastly our confidence will grow so strong that neither height nor depth, nor any frowning creature of fright can daunt us or make us afraid when we are put to the severest test.

The Gardiner members entertained at the Huguenot Grange meeting Saturday evening. The Rev. Victor Simons served as spokesman for the program committee, and in a whimsical speech, punctuated with many jokes, he carried his hearers to the North Pole. Then he took up his violin and dispensed cool, sparkling music. Marion DuBois accompanied him at the piano. Mr. Bennett was introduced and after a brief talk he closed with a short poem. A song and encore by Mrs. Raymond DuBois with Floyd McKinstry at the piano, and an invitation from Mr. Simons to attend church at Gardiner the last Sunday in August completed that part of the program. Then the Gardiner refreshment committee with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Denalston host and hostess dispensed cake and ice cream and all the Grangers congratulated themselves [and their entertainers for a delightful evening in spite of the heat.

Summer Duds for City and Country

Interesting Variety of Materials Offered for Warm Weather Season.

For those who spend a major part of the summer in cities, with just week-ends or vacations in the country, the wardrobe presents a doubly troublesome aspect. The clothes suitable for sports and country clubs are of course out of the question in great cities. Faded tints and brilliant shades are all very well where green grass lends a soft background but where the asphalt pavements sizzle in the heat dull or neutral tones are decidedly better.

For many reasons the flowered crepes and chiffons that are so conveniently introduced in warm weather form the most successful of town dresses, with navy blue and black chiffon and silks also seen in trimly designed costumes. There is an absence of the sports feeling in these clothes, too. They are decidedly trimmer, and in some cases, dressier than those chosen for country walks or the seashore.

The polka-dotted silk dress is exceptionally fashionable this season. It gains an ensemble effect in matching coat or cape, or has a finished appearance with the aid of a fox scarf. The georgette ensembles, too, are good for days in town. These are successfully shown in navy, black or beige tones.

Simple Dress of Black Acceptable for Town Wear.

The frocks, while simple in line, possess a feminine feeling and are generally accompanied by matching coats of georgette or crepe.

Short sleeves, too, have returned to a somewhat prominent place in summer fashions and also are shown in town dresses. Alice White, featured "movie" star in "Harold Teen," wears a simple dress of black particularly acceptable for town wear. It has the new short sleeves, too.

Swing Toward Restraint Is Again in Evidence

More dining and less dancing on the part of society is indicated by the Paris dressmakers' order books. Evening gowns are noticeably more formal, and restraint, which disappeared when the black bottom and Charleston raged, is again in evidence.

Only the robes de style seem designed with dancing in mind. Full skirts, made from net, tulle, chiffon or velvet, usually indicate the ballroom frock. Most of the robes de style are elaborate and meant for private ballrooms instead of public dancing places. Simple elegance is preferred for night clubs.

Just why the change in evening styles has taken place dressmakers fail to explain, except that cold weather has retarded the appearance of diaphanous evening dresses at the outdoor dancing clubs, or the fashionable restaurants in the Bois de Boulogne. Society nightly craves itself into small, warm night clubs where the dance floors are so small and the crowds so great that only the simplest and sturdiest evening dresses survive the crush.

Jeweled Ornaments on Out-of-Door Garments

One of the most interesting innovations of the summer fashion season is the wearing of jeweled ornaments on out-of-door garments. Nothing of the kind has been seen hitherto even in prewar days. Satin and silk wraps are fashioned with silver or gold buckles. They are trimmed with silver or gold beads, and jet is used for trimmings, all this being an extension of the jewel-trimmed hat and shoe mode. The gown is frequently quite plain and made to match the lining of a rich cloak. A navy blue silk coat with a belt, to close with a silver buckle, opens to display a pink crepe.

We chose gown, the cloak being lined with the same shade of crepe. Circular designs down the front of the wrap and on the cuffs are sewed with silver beads, very tiny, while the wide rectangular collar, rolled to hide the neck, is also sewed with silver beads.

August completed that part of the program. Then the Gardiner refreshment committee with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Denalston host and hostess dispensed cake and ice cream and all the Grangers congratulated themselves [and their entertainers for a delightful evening in spite of the heat.

Suede Gloves and Handbags Follow in Fashionable Footsteps—Bows Continue to Be Both Decorative and Useful in Autumn Modes

New York—Yesterday, in this column, suede shoes came in for a measure of praise. Today, what is more fitting than that a tribute be paid to suede gloves, and mention made of the fact that suede and antelope take the lead in handbags? Unusual straps—some call them bracelet effects—are featured in smart glove departments, nor is the long crinkled or mosquito-like type of glove omitted from autumn possibilities.

Perhaps the most sensational development, as recorded in a dispatch from Paris, is the introduction of the printed glove—in washable kid, by the way. A beige kid is sprinkled with graduated polka-dots in shades of brown, it being again permissible to state that combinations involving brown and beige, ivory and kindred tones, not forgetting parchment, are nothing if not important. Naturally these tones must follow through a costume, since we are continued.

A Gay Time At Crosspatch

Midsummer Dance Attended by a Large Crowd From All the Country Around—Crosspatch Notes.

Crosspatch Community Centre was filled to capacity last Saturday evening by a gay crowd who came to enjoy the midsummer dancing party.

It was an ideal evening for dancing, clear and cool, and how the young people did fill up the floor and kept at it until midnight.

The house was decorated with golden red and the flaming blooms of red mint. A big bowl of nasturtiums and marigolds made a blaze of color against the gray stone mantel of the big fireplace.

Crosspatch has had its porch enlarged so refreshments were served there. Mrs. Rose Hawkes and Mrs. Margaret Tate dished out quantities of ice cream and soft drinks. There was no Crosspatch punch this time. Mrs. Cross thought they might be getting tired of it, but it seemed not. She had to promise to have it ready next time. The porch has its pillars pretty well covered with scarlet runner beans and nasturtiums. Big bowls of cut flowers adorned the refreshment tables and Chinese lanterns softened the electric light.

While the old fashioned, square dancers were the most popular, occasionally a fox trot or a waltz brought out a good many couples—not all of them from the city either. The phonograph furnished the latter music and Horbert Keefe and a friend played the violin and accordion for the square dancers.

Nearly every family up through the Willow valley has a few guests from the city at this season, so there was quite a mingling of city and country people.

Crosspatch welcomes everyone and there were some at the party who had come quite a distance because they had been hearing of Crosspatch for the last seven or eight years and at last made the journey to this quaint old house in the hills beyond Willow, where everyone meets with the idea of good fellowship and having a good time.

Among those present were Miss Ethelyn Wilbur, Marion Wilbur, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Gould, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ford, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Lane, Mrs. Margaret Tate and her daughters, Doris and Helen, Mr. and Mrs. H. Hoyt, Harry, Eddy, Paul and Irving Ostrander, Mr. and Mrs. H. Green, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Steven, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. William Van de Bogart, Mrs. Rose Hawkes, William Welch, John Martin and the Misses Martin, Mr. and Mrs. R. Hagameyer, Mr. and Mrs. F. Van de Bogart, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Ostrander, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wolvan.

It's the usual thing at Crosspatch to bring the whole family, even to the tiny baby in arms and grandma who regrets that her dancing days are over. Even so there were pleasant opportunities for neighborhood chats and the making of new acquaintances and renewing of old friendships. Crosspatch has several rooms, beside the dancing hall, where comfortable chairs and cushioned couches invite one to rest awhile and chat. Everybody seemed to have a good time and were cordially invited to come again.

Crosspatch Notes.

There used to be a regular story telling session at the old Crosspatch house away back on the mountain. At the new house, nearer the valley, there has not been so much story telling. There seems hardly leisure with car loads of young people coming and going all evening.

The following was heard on the porch Saturday evening: Mrs. X., from the city, complained to her husband when he came up for the week-end that some terrible animal—maybe a bear—raided the back porch every night and managed to spread the contents of the garbage can all over the back yard.

Mr. X. was right there with a remedy. He took all the meat and vegetable scraps after supper, tied them tightly in a paper package, hung it from a branch of the lilac bush and tied to it an old dinner bell that he found in the attic. It was one of those bells with which they used to summon hands from the hay field.

"Now, he can sound his own alarm and I'll get him," said the head of the house, as he oiled and loaded a wicked-looking revolver.

His wife didn't believe the bell would ring. She thought it would be just like the tiresome bear—or whatever it was—to omit it's nightly visit. Not so.

Somewhere about the zero hour they were awakened by a fierce jangle of the bell.

"Look out and see what it is," suggests Mr. X.

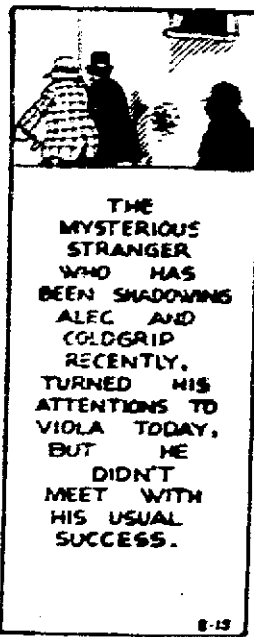

Mrs. X. is a modern woman, and although the moon was shining brightly, she had no idea of going to the window.

"Go yourself," she said, "you wanted to get that bear."

Mr. X. picked up his revolver and strode to the window. Yes, there was something tugging at the package and ringing the bell. It didn't seem to mind the bell at all. It was determined to have that midnight jangle.

Turning on his flash to supplement the moonlight, Mr. X. could see the "bear" clearly. Horrors! It had a white stripe all the way down its back. A skunk! Mr. X. tried a few shots, but he couldn't hit the blasted thing. It dodged all the time. Anyway, his wife didn't want the place cluttered up with that sort of a trophy. So Mr. X. went back to bed and they listened for a long time while the skunk rang the bell and chewed at that package. Luckily a shower came up and wet the paper so the scraps fell out and Mr. Skunk got his lunch. He could be heard going

Water Colors by Boyer Gonzales

(By F. G. Clough.)

Another of the one-man exhibits has been hung at Pandora's Art Gallery in Woodstock, the fifth of the summer series. This is an exhibition of Water Colors by Boyer Gonzales of Galveston, Texas, and Woodstock.

Mr. Gonzales shows fourteen water colors, a number of them marine subjects. He was an intimate of the famous Winslow Homer, and in his work one sees a Homer-like touch, more especially in the choice of grand subjects. He has the simplicity of a true artist.

One of his striking pictures is the "Brewing Storm", showing a ship tossed on a heavy sea, the phosphorescence gleaming from the waves with uncanny reality. The artist has caught a tremendous sea scene with the talent of a master painter.

An entirely different sort of picture is "Open Country", a landscape strong in its simplicity. A blue mountain in the distance is enhanced by a vigorously painted sky; the foreground has a dead tree lying across a waste of land with stark realism. In this water color Mr. Gonzales seems to have shown his versatility; its mood is full with the best of modern painting, yet the complete work has a softness of artistry strangely at odds with the vigorous message one reads from the picture.

In "Her Last Port" is a graphic reminder of "ships that go down to the sea" in literature. "A Florida Key" gives one the distinct memory of the romance of some "Treasure Island" and the "Red Canoe" has caught the very spirit of the Adirondack Mountains, where the artist painted it.

Of local interest should be the "Snowstorm in Kingston", a delightfully winter-bound scene with the house suggesting the snug, warm interior by sheer transmitted-talent on the part of the artist. In another of Mr. Gonzales's pictures one feels the dip of a boat and waves to be in true harmony. In his water colors the artist shows that maturity of expression, that grandeur of simplicity, and that artistry that can only come with many long hard years of work sprung from an original talent.

The artist was born in Houston, Texas; he has studied with Birge Harrison, has studied abroad, has painted in oils all over the country, side from the south to the north, from coast to sea. An exhibit held recently at the Babcock Galleries in New York won him fine praise from metropolitan art critics. He is a member of the National Arts Club, the New York Water Color Club, the Salmagundi Club, the Texas Fine Arts Association, the Southern States Art League, and similar organizations.

Kingstonians, visitors to Woodstock, and others will find the present exhibit well worth seeing; it remains open for the public (no admission) until the 19th of August.

Time Was Fleeting

"Art is long," murmured the man who waited an hour for his wife to make up.—Boston Transcript.

People who kill a town: Those who oppose improvements. Those who distrust public-spirited men. Those who overestimate their business. Those who show no hospitality to anyone. Those who hate to see others make money. Those who oppose every improvement that doesn't originate with themselves. Those who put on an extra long face when a stranger talks of locating in their town. Those who oppose every public enterprise that does not appear of personal benefit to themselves.

The pessimist is the sort of man who blows out the light and then says: "See how dark it is."

Old Christopher Columbus evidently was induced by some tourist agency to set sail from Italy in 1492 on the grounds that he should "See America First."

"Oven-Outings"

Everywhere—on the golf course, driving along the open road, on the beach—women have learned the secret of "oven outings". While they enjoy life out-of-doors, meal preparation is not neglected, for the modern gas range with oven heat regulator assures well cooked meals which need no watching.

With a modern gas range, the meal is placed in the oven and the regulator set at the desired temperature. This temperature is maintained throughout the entire cooking and the woman is free to enjoy an "oven outing", returning to a delightfully cool kitchen and a delicious oven-cooked meal.

CHRYSLER

Compare them only with cars costing far, far more

There have been cars without number which endeavored to look like cars of greater value. None that we know of save these new Chryslers—"65" and "75"—have actually raised themselves into a higher class without alteration of price.

What has happened in the case of the new "65" and "75" is something much more important than a fortunate choice of design and decoration.

The richer appearance, the greater size, the finer upholstery, the specially-designed hardware, the greater performance ability are all real increases in value without increase of price.

They are real and they have an economic base peculiar and possible only to Chrysler—the principle of Standardized Quality through which the benefits in scientific engineering and precision manufacturing of its costliest cars are given to its cars of lesser price.

Through this policy you are able to get in the new "75" and "65" more beauty and higher quality than in cars costing many hundreds—yes, even a thousand—dollars more. Chrysler saves in its basic manufacturing policy and spends lavishly in the engineering and the styling of its cars.

New Chrysler "75" Prices—Royal Sedan, $1335; 2-passenger Coupe (with rumble seat), $1335; Roadster (with rumble seat), $1335; Town Sedan, $1635. New Chrysler "65" Prices—Business Coupe, $1040; Roadster (with rumble seat), $1065; 2-door Sedan, $1065; Touring Car, $1075; 4-door Sedan, $1145; Coupe (with rumble seat), $1145. LOST 48 DAYS IN WOODS

The Pas, Man., Aug. 15 (P).—Andy Taylor, prospector, lost forty-eight days in the densely wooded country north of here, and given up for dead, was brought to the Pas today by airplane.

Taylor, who had wandered aimlessly through the brush living on frogs and dead fish, was found yesterday by Fred Coleman, Ontario professor, and Captain Kenro in a plane that had been searching for him.

His clothing was in tatters and bits of rags had been wrapped around his feet after his shoes had given out. A seven weeks beard covered his haggard face. He was barely able to walk.

We wish to announce to our many friends and patrons that the business owned for many years by Lorenzo Short and known as Short's Studio, will be continued under the management of Miss Della Short.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Aug. 15 (P).—Easier credit conditions and favorable trade news provided the background for a sharp advance in prices in today's stock market. Buying was rather selective in character, but embraced many of the popular industrials, the rise in which was accelerated by active short covering.

Call money renewed at 7 per cent, as against 7½ yesterday, and then dropped to 6½ and 6 per cent. There was no change in time money and commercial paper rates, but persistent reports were in circulation that Federal Reserve authorities were buying bills in the open market to temporarily improve the tight money situation, which not only has restricted trading in securities, but threatened the fall expansion in business.

Bullish sentiment was created by the increase in freight car loadings, the optimistic tenor of the weekly steel trade reviews and the increase from $5 to $6 in the annual dividend on Kennecott Copper.

General Motors, which has been sluggish for the past fortnight, suddenly advanced nearly 6 points to 152½. Radio, which had been selling 15 points below General Motors for the greater part of the last month, crossed General Motors in price today by soaring 10 points to 182½. American C. Can was another active feature, climbing more than 6 points to 98½, the highest price since the 1926 stock split-up. Wright Aeronautical, Midland Steel Products preferred, Montgomery Ward, National Tea, Jewel Tea, Allied Chemical, Johns Manville, Case Threshing and Atlantic Refining sold 4 to 6 points above yesterday's final quotations. Nearly a score of others, including Packard, Studebaker, Houston Oil, Allied Chemical and International Nickel sold 3 or more points higher.

Rails were quiet. Jersey Central lost nearly all of yesterday's 11-point gain and Colorado & Southern sagged 2 points to a new 1928 low at 105. Trading in the rails was restricted by the uncertainty regarding the outcome of the wage dispute on western roads.

Ants Never Found at Loss in Finding Water

In a thirsty land where, as sometimes happens in South Africa, a three-years' drought dries up every blade of grass, the white ants always have water. The reason has been found by M. Marais, a South African naturalist. The ants are water-finders and well-sinkers.

On a Transvaal farm while a man's well was being sunk the borers came upon a tiny two-inch shaft running into the earth. The ants had been there before them! They had sunk an ant well 65 feet deep to where water was to be found.

Up and down this shaft, night and day, water-carrying ants went, each bearing its drop of water. It took each ant half an hour to get down to the reservoir, draw its water, and bring it up to the nest. Then down again it went. There appeared to be night shifts and day shifts, and the night ants worked the hardest.

It may be true, as declared by M. Forel, the greatest living authority on ants, that they are creatures working almost wholly by instinct, and only to the extent of about 2 per cent by intelligent or reflective observation; but when it comes to water finding, their intuition makes them hard to beat.

Napoleon Untiring in Work He Set Himself

Many witnesses have testified to Napoleon Bonaparte's amazing powers of continued work. Roecker, who was his close companion during the consulate, wrote:

"He can work 18 hours at a stretch, it may be at one piece of work, it may be at several in turn. I have never seen his mind without a spring in it, not when he was physically tired, not when he was taking violent exercise, not even when he was angry."

Napoleon robbed hundreds of his fellow workers of youth and health because he demanded too much of them when he demanded from them what he extracted from himself, says Emil Ludwig in his biography of the Corsican. His private secretary would be sent for at a late hour and would get to bed at four in the morning; at seven the poor man would find new tasks ready for him and would be told they must be finished within two hours. During the consulate he would sometimes begin a sitting with his ministers at six in the evening and keep it up until five the next morning.—Detroit News.

Contempt of Court

Motorists cannot be too careful in dealing with country magistrates when they get into trouble, as young Mr. Newall of Cambridge, Mass., discovered in New Hampshire.

"The way of the transgressor is hard," opined the judge, as he extracted a fine of $15 from the youth for oversteering.

"Well, anyway, you have the reputation around here that I have ever seen," returned Newall.

"Ten dollars extra for contempt of court," demanded the justice.

"But I haven't said anything about you, judge," protested the culprit.

"Oh, you, you! I'm your commissioner here as well as justice of the peace."

WE SAID THEY COULDN'T
BUT THEY PUT HIM IN

Chicago, Aug. 15 (P).—"You can't put me in jail," said Deputy United States Marshal Richard J. Murphy at the Warren crime scene today.

But they put him in jail anyway. While the desk sergeant wrote the following item opposite Murphy's name: (1) Creating a riot; (2) slugging a woman and a man; (3) shooting two bystanders; (4) biting a woman.

Murphy, in his automobile, was on his way to serve two warrants involving dry law violations. His car was held up by a stalled machine driven by Miss Marjorie Becks, 17. Indignant at the delay, the marshal, according to Miss Meeks and others in the car, got out of his machine.

and struck her across the arm with a backjack. A crowd that had gathered began uttering protests and Charles Herbert, a spectacled youth who was in the front ranks of the assemblage, was punched in the face by the marshal, as the story was later related to police. This incensed the crowd and they began pressing in on Min-

The crowd fled: all save Bandi who couldn't make much progress

Because of his wound, Murphy arrested Bandi and started with him at the Warren avenue police station. Miss Meeks and others followed, to make complaints against the marital.

At the station Murphy was told he would have to remain while the affair was investigated. He thereupon

P.O.-City Lose League Lead

The P.O.-City team was dropped from first place to a tie for second Tuesday evening at the Athletic Field. The combine players lost an 8-5 decision to the Gascons after late rallies by both teams.

The Gascons staged a four-run rally in the last inning to win the game after the combine players had taken a one-run lead the previous inning by scoring five runs.

Jack Robins pitched for the combine team. He had trouble in locating the plate throughout the game, but managed to finish. Jimmy Doyle and Whitaker opposed the Gascons on the mound. Doyle had a shut-out in view until the sixth inning when he lost his effectiveness and was taken out of the box.

Walks to Knight, Miller and Whitaker and hits by Hoffman and Schab. The combine players took the lead.

Doyle walked Davitt to start the inning and Robins greeted him with a two-bagger, scoring Davitt. Schwab repeated with another double and Robins scored. Lynch bunted and Doyle made a two-base error when he threw over first base. That finished Doyle. Whitaker relieving him. Lutz Bruhn hit to Schab, who tried to catch Schwab at third base, but on a close play he was called safe and the bases were loaded. Schwab scored on Johnson's sacrifice fly, and Lynch and Bruhn scored on Palfist's single.

The combine players did not hold the lead long for the Gascons retaliated in the seventh by scoring four runs on two walks, an error, a sacrifice bunt and a hit by Flanagan.

Pan-Ams Change Their Schedule

Several changes have been made in the Pan-Am baseball team's schedule for this week. The oilmen will not journey to New Paltz this evening owing to the fact that some of the players will have to render service on Industrial League teams. Sunday the Pan-Ams will meet the Kingston All-Stars in the third game of the season, instead of taking on the New Paltz All-Stars.

The Sunday tilt with the Kingston All-Stars will be played at Pan-Am Park on the Saugerties road. It will undoubtedly be a fast tilt as the two previous games played between the keen rivals were flashy exhibitions. The Pan-Ams have the edge on the All-Stars as they defeated them 8-7 last Sunday. In the first meeting of the season the teams broke even, 6-6, in a ten-inning fracas. The All-Stars will make every effort to put themselves on a plane with the oilmen next Sunday.

Thursday evening the Pan-Ams will meet the Clermonts at the Saugerties road diamond as announced the first part of the week. This game will likely prove interesting and should prime the Pan-Ams for their battle with the Kingston All-Stars.

Chinamen's Nicknames

The term "Celestial" often applied to the Chinese, is suggested by the title "Tin Chan" (heavenly dynasty), which is a popular name for the Chinese emperors.

Rondouts Will Face Gascons

The Gascons will mix it with the Rondouts A. C. Thursday evening at Block Park. The teams were prevented from staging a game one evening last week by a heavy rain storm, which had no effect in dampening the rivalry between the nine. It is expected that the coming tilt will please a large gathering of baseball fans. The game is scheduled for 6:15.

Manager Artie Golnek of the Rondouts will send Peters to the mound. This hurler is in tip-top form for the encounter and it is anticipated his slants will fool the best stickmen of the Gasco aggregation. Dulin will do the receiving.

Whittaker will be on the hill for the Gascons and expects to toss a brand of ball, which will eclipse any faced by the Rondouts this year. Joe Hoffman will be behind the plate. Joey knows what Golnek's men like and that which will fool the various heavy hitters, so his services are expected to play a big hand in keeping the Rondouts down.

THREE HIGHLAND BOYS AT PLATTSBURGH CAMP

Three Highland boys, Harvey R. Short, Claude Gaffney and Frank Borquist are at the Citizens' Military Training Camp at Plattsburgh. The boys left August 4 and will be in the camp during the month of August. This is the second year for each of the boys at Plattsburgh. Mr. Short plays a saxophone in the Military Band. He was the marching band prize last year, which the previous year had been awarded a Million boy.

Tagging Major League Bases

The intentional pass may be a good thing in some cases—such as when the score is tied, and Babe Ruth is at bat—but it also may prove a boomer-bang. Lefty Heilmach, the Yankees' newly acquired pitcher made that discovery yesterday.

Heilmach and Grady Adkins of the White Sox had been staging an old-fashioned pitchers' battle. Babe Ruth had given the Yankees one run in the first inning with his 44th homer of the season. In the third the White Sox had tied the count. Heilmach weakened a bit in the eighth, letting two runs cross the plate on three hits, but the Yanks staged a short rally in their half of the inning that netted a run and kept them in the picture.

Then came the tragic ninth. Bill Cissell opened the inning for Chicago with a single and advanced to second on Berg's sacrifice. Adkins made it two out with a fly. In this position the Yankee board of strategy decided to pass Mottill and give George Rafter, rated one of the weak hitters of the league, a chance to make the third out. The supposed weak hitter, promptly confounded the strategists by leaning on the first ball pitched for a triple that sent Cissell and Mottill across the plate and put the game safely on ice. The final count was 5 to 2 in favor of the White Sox.

With a gaping hole left in the American League line by this defeat of the leaders, the Athletics allowed themselves to be thrown for no gain by a group of embattled Detroit Tigers, led by Elam Vangilder. The Detroit pitcher held the Philadelphiaans to nine scattered hits and the Tigers won by a 4 to 1 score. Thus the Athletics failed to lessen the difference of 4½ games between them and the league leaders.

In the other American League games, "Sad Sam" Jones had a stingy day and gave the Browns only four hits which failed to net them a run, while the Washington batters were crossing the plate three times, and Ethel did a somewhat similar feat for the Indians giving them a 2 to 1 victory over the Red Sox.

The Cardinals and the Giants in the National League reversed the Yankee-Athletics situation. Instead of losing, both won their games and St. Louis clung to its precarious 2½ game lead. "Old Pete" Alexander resumed his customary role as hero on the mound, making his first appearance after a period of illness. Alex gave the Braves only seven hits while the Cards batted out a 6 to 1 victory.

Meanwhile the Giants were seeing to it that they did not fall behind in the race by battering the Chicago Cubs all over Wrigley Field to win 10 to 2. Five Bruhn pitchers tried to stem the tide of New York hits with little success. The Giants gathered a total of 15 hits off their assorted deliveries. Larry Benton did a neat job on the hill for New York, keeping 10 Chicago hits spread out and turning in his 19th victory of the season.

The race for third place in the National League also remained unchanged. While the Cubs were losing to the Giants, their rivals for third place, the Cincinnati Reds, dropped a game to the lowly Phillies, 6 to 4. The two-run margin of victory came on a freak play when Sothern tried to dodge a pitched ball and his bat connected for a single that drove in two runs.

The fast moving Pirates registered a slight gain by handing the Robins a second straight defeat by a 4 to 2 score. The Brooklynites got off in the lead by scoring a pair of runs in the first inning, but they failed to keep up the good work and Carmen Hill held them scoreless during the remainder of the game. The Pirate batters pounded McWeeny for nine hits and all four of their runs before he was taken out in the sixth, handing him his sixth successive defeat. Clark finished the game, allowing one more hit.

BUSBY GRAHAM WINS OVER CHARLEY PINTO

Los Angeles, Aug. 15 (AP).—Busby Graham of Ulica, N. Y., recognized by the National Boxing Association as bantamweight champion, made his western bow here last night by outpointing Charley Pinto of Buffalo in ten rounds.

Graham's title was not at stake as both boxers came into the ring well overweighed.

Graham twice knocked Pinto down—the first time in the second round for no count and again in the tenth for a count of eight.

In the same decisive fashion in which his brother won the main event, Frankie Graham, a featherweight, defeated Red Humphries, Santa Monica, in a six-round preliminary.

Unusual Names Quick to Capture Imagination

What's in a name? Almost everything. The rose by any other name hardly would smell quite as sweet, after all.

Most of the men who capture the imagination of a nation have unusual names. Rogers Hornsby got his start in the big leagues because Miller Huggins was attracted by his rather unusual name. Babe Ruth wouldn't be quite the figure he is under the name of Joe Smith.

"Fortune likes rare names," said James Russell Lowell, and Fame loves best such syllables as are sweet and sovereign on the tongue.

Named for Royalty

Prince Edward Island was long called St. John's Island, but was given its present name in 1793 in compliment to Prince Edward, duke of Kent, who paid it a visit. The prince was the fourth son of King George III and the father of Queen Victoria.

Picks Cardinals to Win in 1929

NATIONAL LEAGUE fans who are now enjoying a close pennant race, with five clubs having a chance to grab the flag, will be viewing a runaway race next season, according to E. S. Barnard, president of the American League.

The head man of the junior circuit predicts that the St. Louis Cardinals will be the New York Yankees of the older loop next year and outclass the rest of the field to such an extent that the pennant scramble will be over about midseason.

The National league race is good this season, he pointed out, not because there are any particularly good teams outside of the Cards, but because strength among five or six of the clubs is well equalized.

The prazy of the junior loop sized up conditions now existing in the baseball institution over the force as follows:

Cubs in the senior circuit, with the exception of St. Louis, have not done much to protect their futures. The Cardinals have several farms seeded with promising material that can be drawn on when any of their present stars fall by the wayside.

Donie Bush of Pittsburgh has seen the handwriting and is tearing his championship team apart. The Chicago Cubs have three good pitchers and two outfielders who can hit, but their infield isn't as good as some of the worst ones in the American loop.

The Cincinnati Reds have a veteran hurling staff that will crack together and the time for cracking isn't very far away. John McGraw has one of the worst Giant teams he ever managed. The pitching and catching is weak, outfielders not even fair. The infield is the one redeeming feature.

Brooklyn has fine pitching, but nothing else. Boston and Philadelphia have been watching the race from the bottom of the ladder for so long that a runaway race will be no novelty.

The Cards have the best-balanced team in the National League and the star players are young enough to go on for several years with occasional replacements.

Woodcliff Park Bouts Complete

The stage is set for the 24-round card of boxing bouts to be staged at Woodcliff Park, Poughkeepsie, Thursday, August 16, under the auspices of the Poughkeepsie Exhibition Club. Leo Smith and Eddie Kelly, two local men, are connected with the promotion of the affair, while Johnny Carpio of this city is scheduled to meet Stanley Stevens of Newburgh in one of the six-stanza tilts. Busses will leave this city for the bouts. The program will start promptly at 8:15 o'clock.

The card as it stands now is as follows:

Joe Curry, 126, of New York city, vs. Murray Fuchs, 126, of the same place, main, 10 rounds.

Joe Mulligan, 125, Chelsea, vs. Frisco Bautista, 126-pound Filipino battler, semi-final, eight rounds. These two scrappers fought a draw at the last bouts.

Al Ferrone, 165, who beat Joe Vossick at the last Woodcliff card, vs. Billy La Duke, prominent battler, who will take the place of Jack "Red" Mosher on the bill. The battle scheduled for six rounds will be for the light heavyweight championship of the Hudson valley.

Johnny Carpio, local man, vs. Stanley Stevens of Newburgh, six rounds.

Kid Duck, 135, of Poughkeepsie, vs. Tommy McNaughton, Newburgh, four rounds.

A bus will leave Singer's Service Station on the Strand Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. All who wish to go to Woodcliff Park may make arrangements with Bill Singer.

Vince Coffey Still Training

Vince Coffey, once famous in the squared circle, and probably one of Kingston's best contributions to the cauliflower ear industry, is training daily at Doc Studer's gym in the Sahler building on Wall street. Coffey started the routine several weeks ago to work off surplus weight. It was said. Whether he will again enter the ring after putting himself into condition is not known.

If the Kingston battler gets into the "pink" it is more than likely the lure of the roped arena will win in its appeal. Vince is a lover of the fight game and it is hard to keep a battler of his type out of the ring. He has succeeded in cutting his weight considerably after a long layoff and his daily work in the gym has done a lot to bring back much of his old form.

Local fans are of the opinion that a Coffey-Konchina match would go over big. Whether promoters of the vicinity would consider such a match, or the scrappers mentioned would agree to meet is not known. At present Coffey is too heavy to oppose Konchina.

Turkey to Have Native Golf Course at Angora

The first Turkish gold course is to be laid out at Angora soon for the new Angora Sports club.

The only foreign links in the country are those at Constantinople, run by the British and American colonies. Foreign golf fans believe that the Turks will take well to the new sport, thanks to their oriental gifts of patience and fatalism and thanks to the fact that golf does not require teamwork, the spirit of which is alien to their character.

Still Pays on Time

Rogers Hornsby says the Boston Braves may not be the greatest team in baseball but the management continues to pay on time.

New York Yankees Will Win, Says Art Fletcher

Arthur Fletcher, New York Yankees' coach, is convinced the Yankees will win the pennant, but he bases his conviction on their work from day to day, and not on the size of the lead they hold at present.

"I lost a lot of faith in mere leads," he said, "as long ago as 1914. That year the Giants, of whom I was one, held a 12-game lead on the Fourth of July, but the Braves won the pennant."

"That was because the Giants were frightened stiff," said Babe Ruth. "Maybe," said Fletcher, "but if that was so, I might have been contented that year, because the Braves beat the Athletics four games in a row in the world's series."

Protecting Hornsby Feet

In the Ninth century horns were used in the time of frost in some of the northern countries. The first recorded shoeing was introduced into England by William I in 1066.

Wide Variety at Rhinebeck Fair

The grandstand attractions at the Dutchess County Fair this year will comprise wide variety in entertainment for the throngs that come to Springbrook Park, Rhinebeck, from Monday, August 20, to and including Saturday, August 25. Every afternoon and evening, before the big grandstand, will appear Sir Victor's comedy circus of trained animals. This act will appeal to all children from the ages of seven to seventy. There are ponies that sit down on chairs like human beings, others that walk around on their hind legs, a pony that wrestles with a clown, a horse that plays football, dogs that ride ponies, monkeys that almost tear the clown apart, and a clown that rides a bareback horse, not to mention the pugnacious bulldog that grabs the clown by the seat of the trousers in a howling climax.

In addition to this animal comedy, the State Troopers have again been secured to do their stunting before the grandstand. The Randow Trio, famous clown acrobats, will appear, with their head balancing feats. Another company, DeMaris & Marlette, contortionists, will perform on a swinging trapeze sixty feet high, an act that has been a center ring feature at Ringling Brothers Circus for the past five years.

Madame Bedini's "trick" horses will dance and march for the entertainment of Dutchess county "home folks." The fair this year promises to be the largest event of its kind ever held in the county, for the features of last year—horse show, horse racing, dog show, auto show, horse shoe pitching contest, flower exhibition, and the usual exhibits of stock, fruit and vegetables—will be found as well as a number of unusual innovations. You will want to be at Springbrook Park, Rhinebeck, during the big week, August 20th to 25th.

MAJOR DIRT TRACK AUTO RACES HERE

Lovers of professional automobile racing no doubt will be interested in the announcement that Friday, August 17, has been officially sanctioned and set aside as one of the major dirt track auto racing meets of the early 1928 season, which date marks the closing of the races at the Kingston Driving Park.

A number of A. A. A. drivers have deserted the speedways this season for a tour of the dirt tracks, where meets are staged under American Automobile Association sanctions, and as a result the lovers of this red-blooded sport will have an opportunity of witnessing real automobile racing with a number of the best pilots in the game participating, including such internationally recognized stars as Bob Robinson, Doug Wallace, Rocca Binaggio, Sir Richard Selp, Herman Schurch, Al Aspin, Malcolm Fox and others.

The fact the management of the race meet saw fit to hang up purses of such magnitude as to attract such drivers as Bob Robinson, Doug Wallace and Rocca Binaggio, is evidence Kingston will have one of the best auto racing meets of the 1928 season, as each driver entered is anxious to annex further laurels in the speed world and cop the lion's share of the purse in the events in which they are entered.

The Kingston meet will be run under sanction issued by the American Automobile Association, the governing body which controls all speedway events in the country, including the Indianapolis classic, and all drivers entered must hold A. A. A. registration cards.

One good way to avoid quarreling at breakfast is to cook your own while your wife takes another nap.

EDDYVILLE MINSTREL AT FIREMEN'S HALL TONIGHT

A minstrel show for the benefit of the Catholic Church will be presented in Firemen's Hall, Eddyville, tonight at 8:15 o'clock. It is anticipated that there will be a large audience to see the show and enjoy dancing after. Music will be furnished by Ernie's orchestra.

The cast, that will stage the minstrel, is made up of parishioners of the Holy Name Church, Wilbur, of which the Rev. William P. F. Dooley is pastor, and several Kingstons. The show was coached by Miss Adeline Walker, who directed several successful productions in the past. It is said her ability as a director will be eclipsed when the minstrel is staged at Eddyville tonight. The same show will be put on in the Holy Name Parish Hall at Wilbur on Wednesday, August 22.

Three Mysterious Shootings in N. Y.

New York, Aug. 15 (AP).—A 15-year-old girl and her father were being sought by the police today as the assailants of a 59-year-old peddler who was shot down as he sat on the steps of an east side tenement.

Safetina Pantellina, the victim, was in a serious condition at a hospital with a bullet wound in the abdomen. No motive for the shooting could be learned by police.

Two other mysterious assaults, both of which proved fatal, also occupied the attention of the police. The father of a family of five was shot to death by three unidentified men as he emerged from an apartment house in the Bronx, and in a vacant lot in Brooklyn a truck driver was found dying from a terrific beating.

The identity of the young girl and man who fired five shots at Pantellina, only one of which took effect, was said by the police to have been revealed by the victim, but he would give no reason for the shooting.

Witnesses said the girl walked several times up and down the street in front of the tenement, a paper-wrapped bundle under her arm. Then as she was joined by the older man, she tore the paper from the parcel, revealing a pistol.

Screaming a few words in Italian, she fired three times. Her companion fired twice. In the excitement that followed the two escaped. Neighbors said the girl and man were neighbors of Pantellina and that the latter often could be heard arguing with them.

In the Bronx slaying, Louis Sable, the victim, died instantly. Three bullets pierced his body and a fourth his arm. His slayers ran down the street and escaped.

Sable was an insurance collector and the apartment house from which he had just emerged was formerly on his route. Last March, however, he changed his route and no one could be found in the house who knew him. That robbery was not the motive was indicated by the fact that $30.50 in cash and a check for $25 were in his pockets. Police said Sable was a quiet, unassuming man who apparently had lived an uneventful existence.

The truck driver was identified by a brother as Frank McKnight of Brooklyn. He was alive when found but died a half hour after being admitted to a hospital. The man had been brutally beaten, his head crushed in, his body bruised and his clothes were torn. Police expressed the belief that he had been killed in a fight in a speakeasy and his body taken to the place where it was found.

New York, Aug. 15 (AP).—Heavy melting steel scrap is scarce in the Pittsburgh district and consumers' supplies are reported to be low. Heavy melting No. 1 is quoted at $15.50 to $16 a ton.

Tale & Towne Manufacturing Company earned $2.06 a share in the half year against $2.65 in the first half of 1927. Net income declined to $824,789 from $1,060,288.

July production of crude lead in the United States and Mexico was 68,790 short tons, against 74,096 in June and 72,681 in May, the American bureau of metal statistics reports. The month's output of refined lead was 71,185 tons, against 70,788 in June. Stocks of refined lead, including antimonial, totaled 53,868 tons at the end of June and 54,363 at the close of May.

Allied Chemical & Dye Corporation has organized a holding company, Aldycor Corporation, with authorized capital of $30,000,000, to which it will transfer stocks and bonds of other companies it owns or may acquire. The balance sheet showed the company held government and other marketable securities valued at $86,327,748 at the close of 1927. Reports have been current of a probable four-for-one split-up of common stock and retirement of the preferred.

Consolidated Film Industries, Inc., earned $1 a share on the common stock in the half year, with net profit of $701,376.

Believing that the public would be interested in, and benefited by a more complete understanding of the stock fire insurance industry, the National Board of Fire Underwriters, through its committee on public relations, is planning an educational program in daily newspapers. The advertising for the first year will be confined to Ohio, Missouri, Pennsylvania and to those states in every daily paper in those states. Gale & Pietsch, New York and Chicago, were selected as advertising agents.

National Supply Company earned $1.62 a share on the common stock in the first half of 1928, against $5.55 a share in the first half of 1927.

Two Men Killed In Plane Crash

Tiltonville, Ohio, Aug. 15 (AP).—An attempt by the pilot of an airplane to give his passengers a thrill during a pleasure ride through the clouds was believed responsible for the plunge of a large cabin plane into the Ohio river near here last night, carrying two men—the pilot and a passenger—to their deaths. Three other passengers escaped.

August P. Hauke, 35, pilot, of Rosedale, L. I., and George Griffin, 35, of Bridgeport, O., were those killed. Hauke and Griffin, it was found when their bodies were removed from the submerged plane some hours later, were badly hurt when thrown against the instrument board. Whether their injuries or drowning caused death was undetermined.

The other three men, in rear seats, broke windows and crawled from the cabin. Two of them—Harry Dunham, 23, and William Machin, 26, both of Martin's Ferry, Ohio, swam to shore. Joseph Duncan, 47, father of Harry Duncan, injured his shoulder in shattering a window, and was aided to shore by a boatman.

Joseph Duncan and the other two men said they thought the pilot was merely giving them "the works" and that if something happened to the plane in midair, they were unaware of it.

When the plane was dragged to shore, its engine was missing and one wing had been broken off. Witnesses on shore said it appeared to them as if the pilot had swept down in an effort to frighten a man in a boat and the wing struck the water and broke off as the machine turned as if to again take the air.

GREAT EXODUS FROM VALLEY OF THE INDUS

London, Aug. 15 (AP).—Dispatches from Bombay and Lahore say that the firing of a chain of bonfires to warn of the bursting of a glacial dam in Kashmir, India, caused a great exodus from the Valley of the Indus. The flood did not come although the exodus is continuing.

What happened on the Shyok river is a mystery yet to be solved.

The first report that the dam had burst was officially confirmed. This, however, was followed by an equally official denial and everybody is awaiting an explanation.

The explanation may be a long time forthcoming, as the dam is in a remote and almost inaccessible part of the Karakoram Mountains. It is many days' journey from any town possessing modern means of communication.

How the chain of bonfires which the government prepared long ago to warn the mountaineers of the flood's approach came to be ignited is not known. One theory is that a sudden accidental blazing of one of the watchers' campfires was mistaken for the signal that the dam had burst. When news of the fires reached the lower levels the plains officials hastened to their posts accompanied by photographers and reporters. They waited in vain for the rush of waters which was expected.

The dispatches from Bombay and Lahore say that dwellers along the predicted course of the flood hurriedly made use of every means of transportation to reach places of safety. Military airplanes rose to watch the progress of the waters and warn the remote valleys. General alarm prevailed. This alarm has not ceased, although the warning was cancelled, and villagers are continuing their exodus.

REPORT 60,000 CRIMINAL COMPLAINTS SUPPRESSED

Chicago, Aug. 15 (AP).—The Chicago crime commission poured another broadside against the police today.

A report prepared by special investigators for the commission charged that more than 60,000 criminal complaints made to the Chicago police in the past two years have been suppressed.

Bombings have been written on the police record as "malicious mischief," said the report, and attacks on women have been classified as "accidents." Complaints of pocket picking have not gotten into the record at all in some instances, the investigators said.

Although the report criticized practices alleged to have been prevalent during the police commission-ship of Michael Hughes, it was pointed out that Hughes himself had been of great assistance to the investigators in uncovering the facts. It was made clear that neither Hughes nor his predecessor at the head of the police department, Morgan Collins, were responsible for the conditions charged. Mostly, said the report, the suppression of complaints was traceable to precinct captains who sought in this way to make their records look better than they really were.

During 1926, the investigators charged, only one out of every 525 complaints of assault was reported from the station that received them to the office of the secretary of the department. Since statistics on Chicago crime have in the past been based on figures of the secretary, previous reports have been "far from trustworthy," the investigators said.

Colonel Henry Barrett Chamberlin, operating director of the crime commission, found the records in the secretary's office "absurd on their face."

"According to the secretary's records there were in 1927 no safe blowings, no pickings of pockets, no larceny and battery and no purse snatching," Colonel Chamberlin said. "If these figures are to be taken as correct, it will be found that in 1926 there were no bogus checks passed, no forgeries, no extortion by threats, no arson and no pandering. If the published reports of the police department are studied and analyzed, they will furnish great amusement for anyone with a sense of humor." Colonel Chamberlin recommended "a careful, accurate, impartial and comprehensive survey of the entire department, looking to its rehabilitation."
